Chloe Reynolds lit a candle in honor of Tanya.

My cousin was one of those rare people who made you feel truly heard. She was a wonderful conversationalist—someone you could talk to about anything, big or small—and she always had thoughtful advice to offer. Her words carried warmth, honesty, and a genuine desire to help, because helping people wasn't just something she did; it was who she was. She had a great sense of humor that could lighten even the heaviest moments, often making me laugh when I needed it most. Time spent talking with her never felt wasted—it felt comforting, meaningful, and real. She had a way of bringing people together, making conversations feel easy and connections feel strong. Family meant everything to her. She was deeply family-oriented and showed her love through her presence, her support, and her care for those around her. She leaves behind memories filled with laughter, wisdom, and kindness—memories we will hold onto and cherish. Though she is gone, the love she gave and the conversations we shared will stay with me always.

I spoke to Tanya 5 days a week when we worked together. I went by her desk and said hello most mornings. She loved to cook and spoke fondly of her family. She said she stayed with her father at times to help him and her sister, but never felt burdened, just happy to do her part. She always had tips on skin care and staying healthy. She was strong especially in her faith. So sorry for her family's loss!
